

REAL WEDDINGS

Ashley and Taylor

~ NOVEMBER 3, 2012 ~

Weddings
in Houston.

When Taylor brought Ashley to the spot where they'd had their first date, she thought it was a pretty sweet coincidence that the first two tunes on the jukebox were "our songs," she says. "But by the end of the series"—which, unbeknownst to Ashley, her future hubby had arranged ahead of time—"I knew what was going on, and he asked me to be his wife!" Ashley had always dreamed of a "romantic, traditional church wedding, followed by a luxe, modern, nightclub-type reception," and her Petroleum Club of Houston wedding, with its sleek white backdrop, deep-blue uplighting and glittering silver accents was a dream-come-true. "My vision was for the wedding to look like it took place inside of a disco ball. We covered every surface with sequins, glitter, Lucite and candles. Then the Petroleum Club's windows and the city lights of Houston took care of the rest."
